This dynamic couple will showcase the works of two of the greatest romantic composers and perform pieces that are not often played. The performance will include Schubert’s Rondo in A major, D. 951 and Schumann’s Ballszenen Op. 109, along with other lesser-known works from these composers.

Temirzhan Yerzhanov attended the famous Central Music School in Moscow and earned his M.A. in Piano Performance from the legendary Moscow Tchaikovsky Conservatory under Professor Mikhail Voskressensky. While at the conservatory, he began his performing career when he won the First Prize and Gold Medal at the Xth International Robert Schumann Piano Competition in 1993, thus cementing his appreciation of Schumann’s work. He is currently a Distinguished Faculty member teaching piano at CSMA.

Klara Frei attended The City of Basel Music Academy in Switzerland where she earned her M.A. in Piano Performance. She later earned her Post-Graduate Certificate in Piano Performance at the Moscow Tchaikovsky Conservatory under Professor Evgeny Malinin and was a distinguished student of the legendary Heinrich Neuhaus. She is currently a faculty member teaching piano at CSMA.
